Precision Laboratories Upgrades Website

Northbrook, IL, July 7, 2003 -- Rick Wohlner, president, Precision Laboratories today announced that the company has significantly upgraded its website to provide more information and offer online ordering of the company's full line of specialty turf and aquatics products.

Focused on the customer, the new site is easier to navigate, includes a full site search capability and expanded product information. In addition, downloadable research papers, MSDS, specimen labels, technical bulletins and a news release archive have been added. For Precision's dealers and distributors, streamlined, online ordering features have been installed that will ensure that customers throughout the country can order at their convenience and experience expedited product delivery.

For more information, visit the new website at www.precisionlab.com or call 1-800-323-6280.
